Code revision and review

Project Proposal

- Shishir Gururaj

- I'll plan on doing the "standard" project where i'll be improving a codebase through a series of changes and code reviews.

- I will be working on a codebase which is made up of HTML, CSS, PHP and JavaScript mainly. The original purpose of the codebase was to contribute towards the design and development of an online restaurant aggregator and food delivery website.

- I am the sole author of the aforementioned codebase.

- I'll be hosting my project on GitHub and GitLab (Just to be safe).

- I plan to work alone. I'll see through the project on my own.

- The major improvements that I plan to make to the codebase include fixing bugs associated with the user interface, experience and addition of new features and functionality such as addition of newer restaurants, order history, and website administrator functions and privileges, and CSS clean-up work (to name a few).
